

Editor Laura Silvius. Heard some news you want us to check out? Let me know:
laura.silvius@patch.com

Home

News

Events

Places

Traffic & Gas

Gallery

More

Search

Government

POLL: NJ Taxpayers Want Property Taxes Cut First

They'd rather see less property than income taxes.

February 21, 2012

Email

Print

44 Comments

More New Jersey taxpayers would prefer to see property taxes cut than income taxes, according to a newly released Rutgers-Eagleton poll.

While 52 percent of state residents support Gov. Chris Christie's proposal to cut income taxes by 10 percent across the board, 75 percent say they would rather see property taxes reduced before income taxes.

The poll also showed that most voters overestimate how much an income tax cut would save them per year. While most voters think they would save $750, that's not quite the case. A taxpayer making $50,000 would save just under $100 per year and someone making $100,000 would save about $275 per year.

For complete results from the poll, click here.

Take our poll below and let us know which tax you'd prefer to see cut first.

Note: This post is shared across several Patch sites serving communities in Morris, Somerset and Sussex counties. Comments below may be by readers of any of those sites.

Which tax would you rather see cut first?

- Property tax
- Income tax
- Other (explain in comments)

Total votes: 428

Submit

View Results

This is not a scientific poll.

Related Topics: Gov. Chris Christie, Property Taxes, and income taxes

Email me updates about this story.

Enter your email address

Keep me posted